Died May 9, 1952

In Loving Memory

It was the night of the Father-Daughter dance. We were being gay that night. It seemed impossible that sorrow could touch our hearts. The news came quietly but spread rapidly. Our Dads understood. They had heard about Sister Mary Devota. She taught us languages, Latin, Spanish, and we loved her.

But mostly, she taught us to love God. Her dedicated life led the way. With a passion for Thomas Aquinas, she gave us truth. An example of Christian charity herself, she kept us alive to that same charity. Her patience, her understanding, her kindly wit and sense of humor, her concern for us—these we cannot forget. Beautiful memories! They are our monument to our beloved friend and teacher—Sister Mary Devota.

Religion

Permeates All

Carol Lawler points out to her fellow students of Room 207 the benefits of the Holy Eucharist.

Room 213 make the Liturgy of the Mass a day-by-day study.

Noella, Dorothy and Christine of Room 203 with their favorite literature, the world's "best seller."

Sister Mary James steps in to view the work of these "Apostles of the Rosary", Helen Mitchell and Maureen O'Keefe.

Seniors of Room 114 learn to appreciate the Little Office of the Blessed Virgin.

"Our Quest for Happiness" and Sister Mary Joan—a combination of religious "happiness."

It's a chapter on "The Mystery of Mysteries" that has these freshman "theologians" pondering.

Nothing so inspiring

Three One-Act Plays

The Upper Room

Directed by La Vonne Covert and Margie Baker, it was judged best play of the evening.

Neighbors

Left: "Neighbors" "My, that's a lot of truck ye got there," exclaims Mary Pluard.

Below: "I don't know why it is you won't talk to me," laments Delso Kallman, named best actress in the three plays, to Rose McEnery.

Below left: Take your hat off, Mary, don't you know you're in the house!

Mrs. Harpers Bazaar

Determination, starring Anna
Marie Schraut.
'You're not going to stop me!'

Jackie Joppek certainly makes realistic the indignant movie star, as Jean Barker and Sue Leslie stand shocked.

Subtle Loyola arrives to catch Mary Lou and Alice making an exciting phone call.

Variety Show

Another Opening -
Another Show.
The curtain rises
and away we go.

Marianne Cranley and Gary Lober combine their voices in "Sympathy."

Presented by Mercy Glee Club

Sophomores dance to "Thumbelina" in Hans Christian Anderson.

Mark and Marie steal the limelight from the sophomores with
"Anywhere I Wander"

Soloists!
Some sing, some dance.

1. Ray Lusson and Marilyn Forst.
2. Mary Ann Cranley
3. Helen Todd (center)
4. Mary Kay Davia.
5. Mark Quinn and Marie McFadden.
6. "Frosty"
Dolores Baer (not always)

Things are buzzin' as Sister Rose Marie and Miss Carlson give directions.

Juniors all a-flutter. It's time for their bit of "Firefly."

Hey mom, here I am!

so in love

No two people have ever been

Gary sings to the mule as his fair senorita watches.

Winter

Scenes

"They're gliding along with a song of a wintry wonderland."

Skaters

Waltz

Miniature frosties
twirl their canes.

Watch as they dart
to and fro.
Skates flashing brightly as they go!

"All right," Audrey, "say when."

Is Over!*

Preview of Fashion Show

Students of the clothing classes model thier own handiwork.

Marlene Smith in jumper—accent on stripes.

Ambition! Kathleen Fitzgerald and Catherine Wynne makes their own spring coats.

Above:
Joanne Carney and Joan McKenna will be stepping out in suits of the latest trend.

Kathleen satisfied with formal of her own design.

A dramatic repeat of Marlene. Anita Klatt justly proud of her date dress.

Right: Catherine Wynne—a date insured. Barbara Rock and Gloria Pazak, pause for comment in their jumpers. Carol Leeney sports a sport dress.

Song at The Scaffold

Presented by the Seniors

Carmelite Sisters celebrate the birthday of
"Le Petete Roi"

The Revolutionary Mob cry for Liberty!
Fraternity!
Equality!

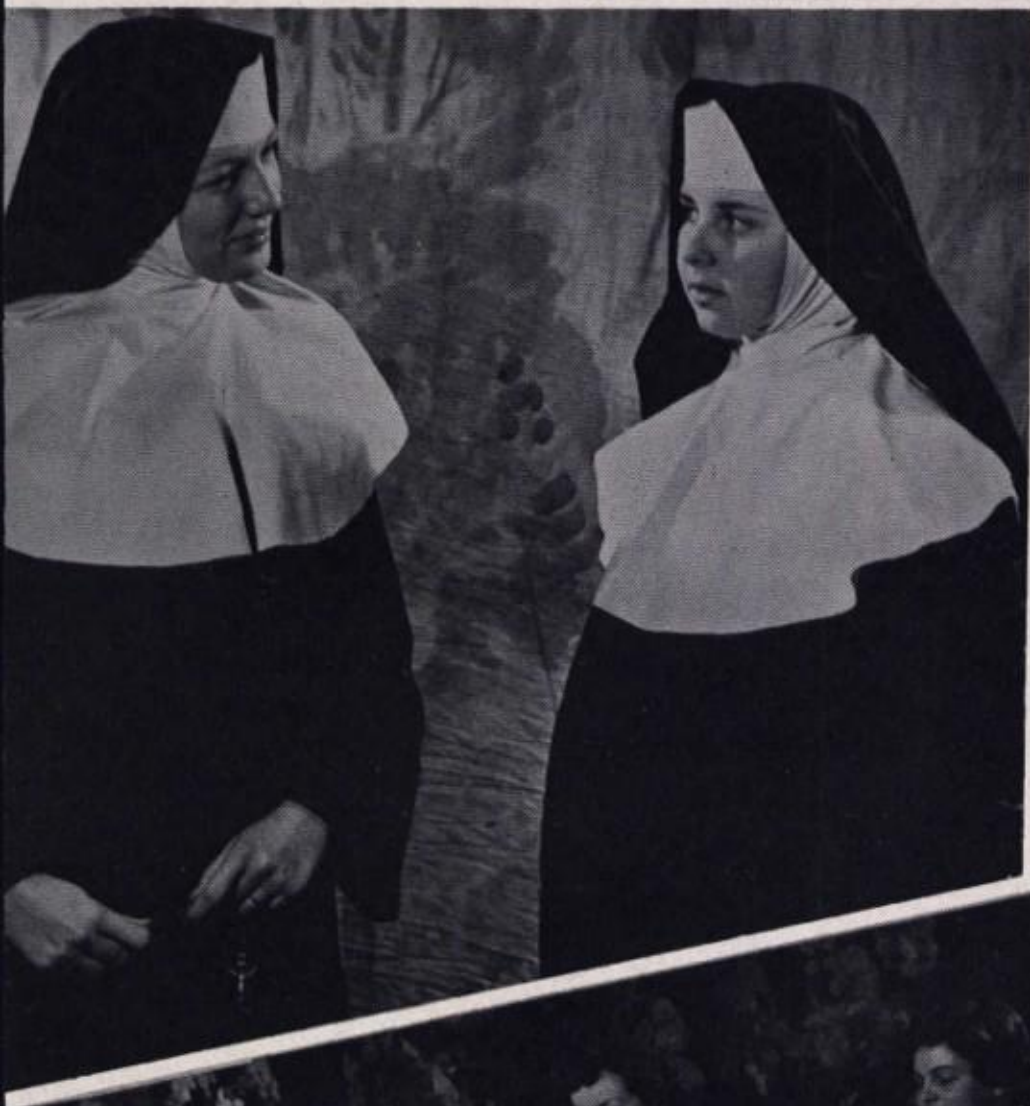

(Reverend Mother)
Peggy O'Neil, warn her
"daughters" of the coming crisis but offers their faith as a consolation.

"Attention Citizens"
shouts Mary Ann Straits, the market women, as she arouses the anger of the blood-thirsty mob.

Novices, Ann Kiloran and Pat Sullivan, find truth in the "the old and wise" as Sister Marie, Barbara Clark, provides herself as an excellent answer box to their numerous curiosities.

(Reverend Mother) Nancy Cahil, forced to depart for Paris by her superiors leaves the charges of her convent in the hands of Mary Lou Reuter, (Mistress of Novices).

Rose McEnery, Blanche receives guidance and confidence from her governess, Madam De Chalis, portrayed by Jacqueline Joppek.

In celebration of their uprising the mob prepare to "eat hearty."

Long

Awaited

Two by two they arrive.

Getting into swing —lovelies and their escorts.

Sitting it out in plesant company.

Reflections in the Morrison's Mirror Room.

Night

Through the window.
Were the twins ever so different?

As usual — the women of the crowd have all the say-so-Note Gert and Gail

And in this corner we have

Look at this!
And the evening still young!

Favorite Highlight of Sodalists' Year

May time brings May Crowning. All eyes on Our Lady while Anna McDonnell, prefect, places the crown. Sue Morgan, Joyce DeHaan, and Carole Aurelio form court of honor.

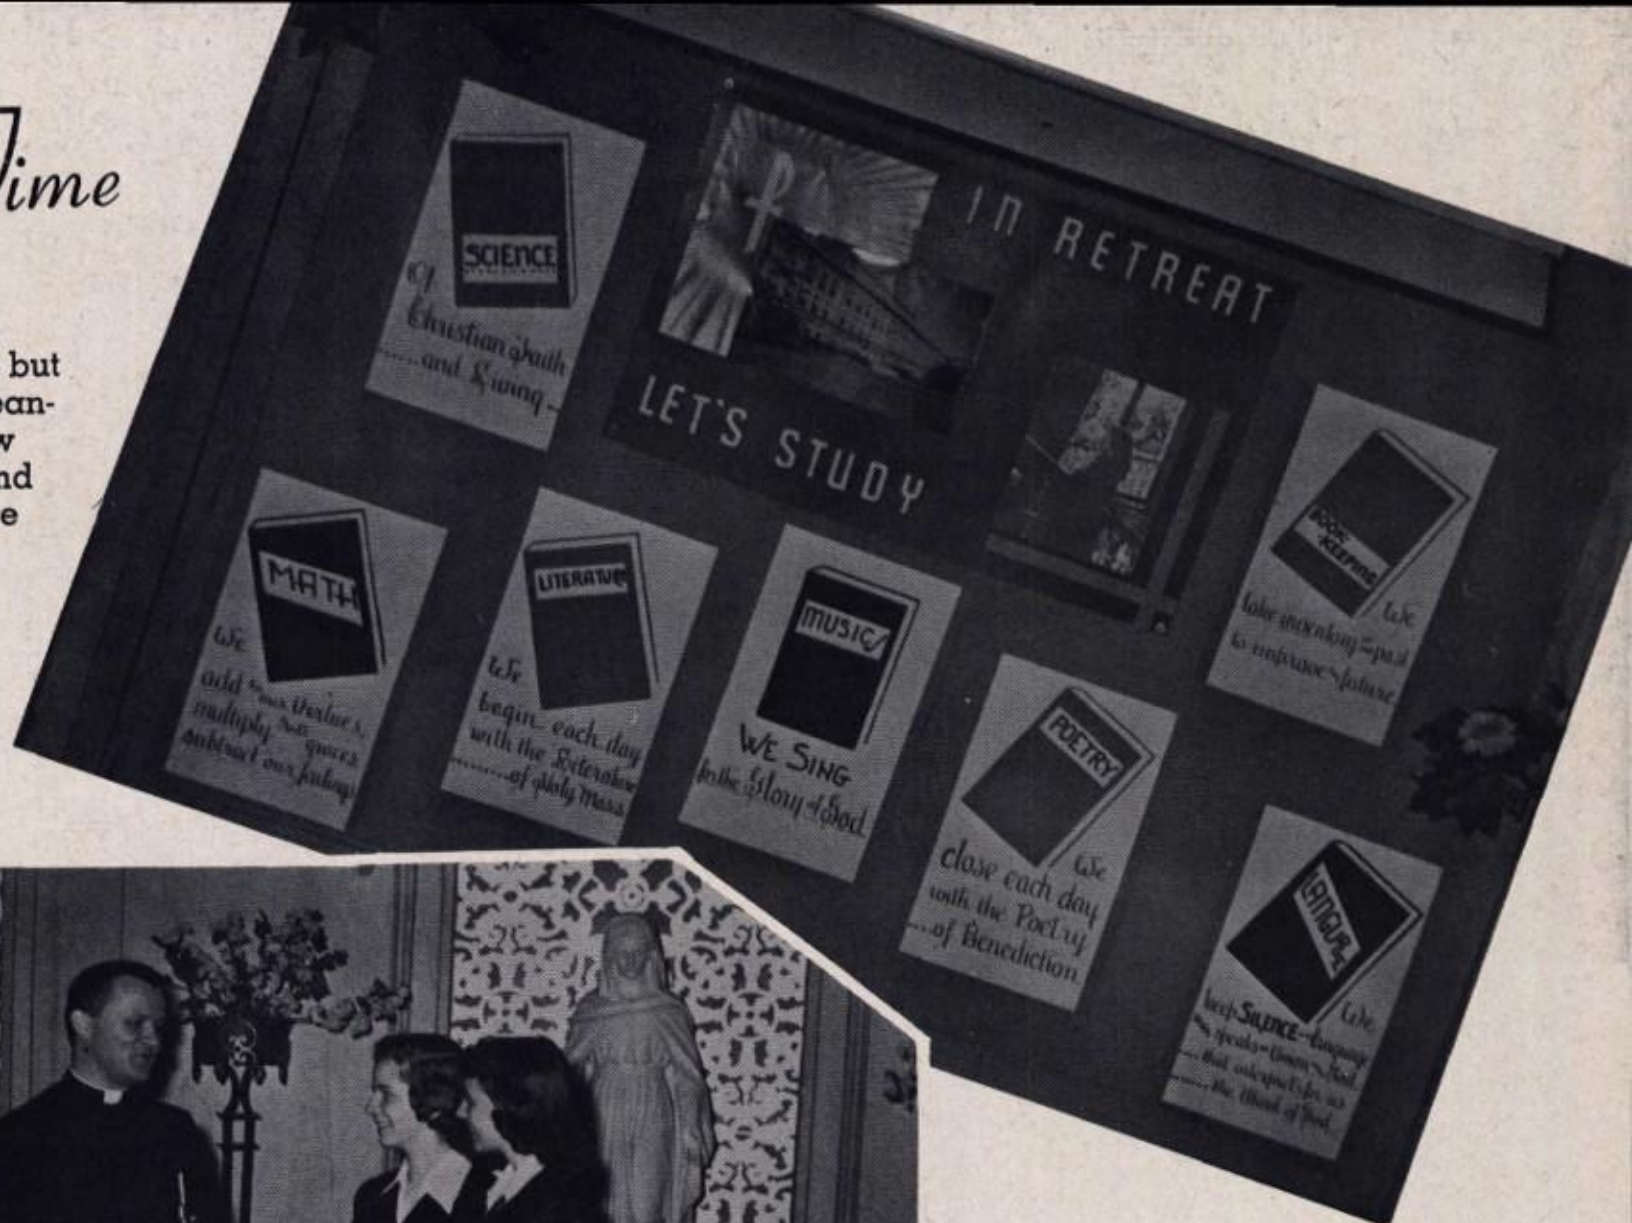

"'Tis the Month of Our Mother ! "

Senior Sodalists in procession—
Mary Mahoney
Mary Ann Clancy
Mary Ann Karlicek
Nancy Cahill
Rose Mary Fruehauf
Joan Panka
Ann Kiloran
Barbara Fox
Joanne O'Callahan
Joyce DeHaan
Carole Aurelio
Sue Morgan

Retreat Time

The titles are the same but they take on a new meaning as Mercians review chapters of the past, and look ahead to the future during annual retreat, November 24, 25, 26.

Father Kenneth Hoffman, experienced spiritual director, talks over current teen-age problems with seniors, Mary Lou Reuter, Pat Schwartz and juniors, Joan Chruciel, Dolores Murphy.

Freshies and sophs get in on a special conference with Father James Lamies.

Miss Mercian

of 1953

After keen competition in the ad-patron drive, Gertrude Beck emerges winner of the title, Miss Mercian of 1953.

Elaine Reis, Miss Mercian of 1952, crowns Gertrude as her court gives hearty approval.

Mary Ann Clancy, Betty Jane O'Mara, Barbara Carrig, and Beatrice Johnston surround Gertrude Beck with majestic grandeur.

Mary, Mary Ann, Carole, Anne, and Judy, private voice students, honor Miss Mercian and her court, each with a song.

The staff applauds as Editor Delso Kallman bestows well deserved handshake.

We, the members of the Fox College Student Council, cordially invite you to visit our school, located in the heart of a fine community, at 79th and Halsted Streets.

We are most appreciative of our outstandingly helpful and enthusiastic Teachers.

We are especially proud of our really friendly fellow-students.

We are continuously stimulated to do our best by the placement performance of Mr. Fox, who personally places all our graduates. (Our advanced classmates are averaging well-over $300 a month to start!)

We are most thankful to know that none of our young men graduates will be asked to carry a gun—We are glad to know that they are so urgently needed in administrative and personnel work in Service Headquarters that they will be so assigned!

We are especially happy to send this personal invitation to you for frankly—we want you to become one of us.
